

Central Axis™ Network storage server

Automatic data backup, secure web access and sharing, and convenient media access and streaming for your home network

1TB Single drive

5 YEAR LIMITED WARRANTY

Digital videos of your children taking their first steps. The music library you've built. The 15 years of personal financial data you've compiled. They're highly valuable—if not irreplaceable—but when stored on your home computers they're also vulnerable to system failures and viruses, loss and theft.

Central Axis storage server delivers a smart, simple way to automatically back up the valuable digital content on all the computers in your home network. Backups happen automatically—a welcome change from the tedious chore of copying your content to discs and thumb drives.

You can securely access and share your content via any web browser, too, so it's a snap to grab a file from any computer in your home or on the road, and you can easily share content with friends and family everywhere. And for a rich home entertainment experience, you can create a centralized library of household photos, videos, and music that offers anytime access and streaming to your networked TVs, digital music players, and computers.

Features and Benefits

- Automated data protection: Automatically back up all your network-connected computers to one central, safe location.
- Securely access your stored content: View images and slideshows from any Internet-connected PC, Mac, or laptop while keeping your firewall intact.
- Easy file sharing: Invite friends and family to view and download select photos and other files via the web. You can even authorize guests to upload their own content.
- Convenient media access and streaming: Enjoy the convenience of a centralized, always-accessible library of your household's digital music, videos, and photos, and stream media from your Central Axis to any networked computer or home entertainment device. (Requires a UPnP AV-compatible player.)
- Printer sharing: Print from anywhere on the network.
- Ease of use: Plug your Central Axis into your router and it automatically configures to your network. The server quickly loads and organizes your content by file type, provides at-a-glance storage and backup status, and notifies you via email of system events.
